Circuit Court adjourned Saturday evening last, about 9 p. m., after the argument of the Linden suit, and concluded.

—The Hon. W. C. Marshall, special Judge, will announce his decision in the case, at the August term of the court, the date to be soon determined, but to be on the safe side, to be in with the beginning of the month.

Waited the effect of this revelation, and made some notes of passing events.

[mar16]

—The Hon. W. C. Marshall, in his opinion, overruled the motion to collect the money from the railroad debt. Three hundred men are reported in camp at Hickman, and the court decided that they will resist, if necessary, to arms, to collect it.

—Jack Burdick is building a telephone line from Hickman to Keeffoot lake, a distance of about ten miles, and it is expected to be ready for use in a few weeks. The line will connect with the part of which is controlled by Mr. Burdick, and shipped from Hickman, made the connection. Mr. Burdick's plan and enterprise in its construction.

—Judge R. S. Murrell, who has worthily established the character of being a faithful, prompt and resolute public servant, has now secured the confidence of being a splendid advocate at the bar. He appears his cause well and uses all who are his friends, and which he will hold. So mote it be.

"We have too many laws now, and are too many saying, but nothing is done, and the new law that is a good law is always needed. Hence, the attention of the Legislature to legislation that would be directed at the advancement of the country, the town of Hickman, the State of Kentucky, or any other home point or neighborhood, and it knows that the papers published at Fulton, and in the following cities, especially and liberally, will cheerfully and enthusiastically do the same. The young men of the young men of the country will see the pluck, industry and courage, to take hold of live enterprises and will be inspired by their homes and prosperity, and are ready to stand by them, old croakers to the contrary notwithstanding."

—The COURIER stands ready, and anxious, without fear or favor, to do its duty, and to do that which pertains to the advancement, development or improvement of Hickman, the State of Kentucky, or any other home point or neighborhood, and it knows that the papers published at Fulton, and in the following cities, especially and liberally, will cheerfully and enthusiastically do the same.

—A matter of fact the COURIER is opposed to such a condition of affairs as that which exists, and is rapidly increasing in population, wealth and production capacity, better roads are made necessary, and the country will be well served.

THE HICKMAN COURIER.

THE MAN FOR 1888.

(From Memphis Appeal.)

BLAINE—SHERMAN.

A very hot inter-party fight is being waged between the friends of Blaine and Sherman as to which will be the Republican nominee for President in 1888. As far as effect Sherman has the record and ability, but lacks the popular magnetism of Blaine, and Blaine, in such an eminent degree. Sherman with all of his ability is a cold, calculating, by far the largest percentage of his own party leaders hate him, and would go into the ranks after the election, and the same is true of Blaine. But, beyond beyond partisanship, Sherman's record stands way above that of any Republican leader, and his record, while not perfectly elastic, creates enthusiasm, puts the party to shouting, but the talk of the country is with the appearance of trickery and corruption; and besides, a very large element of his own party has been won over to him. Even to defeat his election, his nomination by the Republicans would be hailed with delight by every Southern man, and the United States, and for this reason it is feared they will not again give him a chance.

Many of the Southern Republican leaders know these things about Blaine, but the rank and file of that party know only his won- derful record, and the record of the leaders who detect him, anxious to utilize his popularity, how to his leadership, and hence, stand by him. The same is true, especially in favor of Blaine being their nominee.

All democratic opinion, with one voice, with one shout, all along the line, point to the re-nomination of Cleveland. His nomination is equivalent to his re-election.

A BALLOON of colossal dimensions, which has been a constant being graced at will, has been for some time in course of construction in Berlin. The balloon is 500 feet in diameter, and will be 100 feet high when it is finished.

The total weight is about 43,000 pounds, the envelope and netting together weighing 1,000 pounds.

The propelling machinery consists of two steam engines of fifty horse power each, and the entire cost is estimated at $50,000.

The President has intimated to some of his personal and political friends that during the summer, in company with Mrs. Cleveland and other members of the family, he will go to Europe. He will make an extended trip through the South and West. He will visit the South in the spring and the West in the summer, the latter of the summer has passed.
